UNITSTAAL A/S

ENGINEERING & PRODUCTION

At Unitstaal A/S, we offer design and manufacture of stainless steel components, processing and production facilities. We are leaders in our field and supplier to the largest industries in the market for dairy products, food and chemical products. Our solutions are tailor-made and born through close, flexible collaboration with our customers based on a good dialogue and industry-wide know-how.

Our experienced project managers take care of the entire process from start-up on a task to delivered project – and they offer advice in relation to the constant development taking place in the industry.

In addition, we have a number of skilled technicians in the field to ensure proper installation and ongoing service at the facilities. We also participate in the development, modification, design and engineering, optimization of processing and production facilities.
